NEW QUESTION: 1

You are tasked with building a highly available, fault tolerant web application for your current employer. The security team is concerned about an increase in malicious web-based attacks across the internet and asked what you can do to add a higher level of security to the website.

How should you architect the solution on Oracle Cloud Infrastructure (OCI) to meet all requirements defined by your organization? (Choose the best answer.)

A. Deploy at least 3 web application servers, each in a different fault domain, using a regional private subnet. Place a public load balancer in a regional public subnet and create a backend set for all of the web application servers. Create a Geolocation steering policy in Traffic Management and add an answer pool that directs to the public IP address of the load balancer. Configure a global catch-all rule to use this answer pool.

B. Deploy at least 3 web application servers, each in a different fault domain, using a regional private subnet. Place a public load balancer in a regional public subnet and create a backend set for all of the web application servers. Deploy a Web Application Firewall (WAF) and configure the load balancer public IP address as the origin.

C. Deploy at least 3 web application servers, each in a different fault domain, using a regional public subnet. Use the OCI Traffic Management service to create a load balancing policy that will resolve DNS evenly between all web servers.

D. Deploy at least 3 web application servers, each in a different fault domain, using a regional public subnet. Ensure that each web application server is assigned a public IP address. Deploy a Web Application Firewall (WAF) and configure one Origin for each public IP address.

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION: 2

Note: This question is part of a series of questions that use the same or similar answer choices. An Answer choice may be correct for more than one question in the series. Each question independent of the other questions in this series. Information and details provided in a question apply only to that question. You are a database developer for a company. The company has a server that has multiple physical disks. The disks are not part of a RAID array. The server hosts three Microsoft SQL Server instances. There are many SQL jobs that run during off-peak hours.

You must monitor and optimize the SQL Server to maximize throughput, response time, and overall SQL performance. You need to identify previous situations where a modification has prevented queries from selecting data in tables.

What should you do?

A. Create a Performance Monitor Data Collector Set.

B. Create a sys.dm_os_wait_stats query.

C. Create a sys.dm_os_waiting_tasks query.

D. Create an Extended Event.

Answer: B

NEW QUESTION: 3

The current manual provisioning process for Microsoft Exchange servers at your customer includes a configuration step for a firewall to enable mail reception from external parties. Your customer recently purchased a CloudSystem Matrix environment and wants to automate as many provisioning steps as possible. Which approach provides the most cost effective, efficient, and low risk result?

A. Desktop a PowerShell script to configure the Exchange environment and add it to a template in infrastructure

Orchestration.

B. Download and implement the HP Cloud Map for Exchange and desktop an additional custom workflow that modifies the firewall.

C. Install HP Network Automation and configure the automatic Exchange connection policies in the Infrastructure Orchestration.

D. Use the HP Sizer for Microsoft Exchange server and create an infrastructure Orchestration template based on the results.

Answer: D

Explanation:

HP has developed the HP Sizer for Microsoft Exchange to assist customers with proper server and storage sizing and configuration for their Exchange deployments.

Note: With HP Insight Dynamics, infrastructure orchestration (IO) templates can be designed and published to enable consistent application service provisioning from pools of shared resources via a self-service portal. These templates are designed based on specific application service requirements and best practices. To facilitate the process of designing and creating these templates, the HP Sizer for Microsoft Exchange 2010 includes the capability to automatically generate IO templates based on the Exchange requirements (user profile, count, etc.) specified during the sizing process. This IO template can then be imported directly into the HP IO Designer tool, saving administrators significant time in the template planning and design process.
